are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE

A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23x36 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

FROM ESTILL.

A Breezy Letter About Politics, Courting, June Zephyrs and Good Eating.

ESTILL SPRINGS, June 26th, 1900.
Editors BOURBON NEWS.

It is singular that Estill doesn't become a great rendezvous for Kentucky politicians—it is so admirably fitted for it. It was so, to some extent last summer, as Senator Blackburn, Governor Goebel and other prominent politicians of both Democratic and Republican parties spent some time here, though whether they were discussing politics or not I do not know. Estill is admirably fitted for quiet consultations which are undesirable to see reproduced in the newspapers. The ubiquitous reporter is not in evidence at the Springs.

By the way, speaking of politics, I see that it is McKinley and Roosevelt. I hope the Democrats will display as much good judgment in selecting a running mate for Bryan as the Republicans have done for McKinley. The selection of a vice-presidential nominee offers a great chance to strengthen a ticket if wisely made. I don't want to see any more fiascos like the Sewall nomination.

Sometimes the attempts to make the tail of the ticket strengthen the head are about as successful as the strategy of the knight in the medieval legend. There was a very wise, but very ugly knight, the story goes, who married a very beautiful but silly woman, thinking to make his children both wise and handsome. Alas, for his careful plans! The children were as ugly as their father and as silly as their mother!

The Springs are beginning to fill 'up. There are forty-odd people here now, and I suppose that in two weeks or more, there will be several hundred. Last year, by the middle of July, I think Estill was entertaining about three hundred guests. The fare this year is very fine. Spring chickens and lamb, two of the finest meats in existence, are served here in abundance, and of the very finest quality. All the vegetables the season affords are served, and the bread and desserts are up to the standard of the most fastidious.

I was telling the boys in my last letter how to propose to "her". Well, I can see a young fellow from where I am writing, who don't need any instruction. They are sauntering along under the old oaks, and he is gazing at her in a way that would draw tears from a rock, while his mellifluous pleadings, borne to me on the breeze, sound like the rippling of water over pebbles. They don't know I am watching them, but I think she is about to put him out of his misery.

I am still taking the sulphur baths. I like to bathe and lie around in the shade, talk, eat and read, but a man who has energy enough to drink plenty of sulphur water, bowl some every day, and take a sulphur bath every day, will find himself a Hercules in a few weeks, and able to whip his weight in wild-cats. The idea is attractive, but I am too lazy.

I suppose it is because I am always such a good sleeper at Estill, but it seems to me that they must have the best beds here in the world. When I come up to my room at night and get into bed, with no sound to disturb me except the pleasant drowsy noises made by the frogs and crickets, and with soft breezes like zephyrs from Araby the Blest sighing in at my window, I go to sleep almost as soon as my head touches the pillow. If they didn't keep the dining room open as late as nine o'clock, I would miss my breakfast about three mornings out of four. If any of your readers suffer with sleeplessness, I would advise them to make a bee line for Estill, and will guarantee a cure.
